

Port of Newport

What started in 1910 as a small but important hub has grown into the vital working waterfront known today as the Port of Newport. With a commitment to stewardship and a deep understanding of the economics of coastal communities, the Port continues to pursue opportunities in the shipping industry while serving as an important stakeholder in commercial fishing, tourism and recreation, and marine sciences.

NEWPORT INTERNATIONAL TERMINAL (NIT)

NIT is a multi-use facility and one of three deep draft ports on the Oregon Coast. Thanks to major renovations completed in 2012, the site has two berths available for fishing boats, cargo ships, research vessels and others who require dock space or the use of a two-ton hoist. Measured at 860 linear feet, NIT has primarily been utilized by larger commercial fishing vessels in recent years while the Port actively seeks additional users.

RV PARKS

The Port of Newport operates three RV parks in South Beach in close proximity to the Yaquina Bay Bridge, the Pacific Ocean, and a variety of attractions. Two parks - the marina RV park and the Annex - offer full hook-ups and have a combined capacity of 144 sites. Dry camping (no hook-ups) is also available on 62 sites. Laundry facilities, showers, and an on-site host create a welcoming home-away-from-home for guests. To reserve a site, visit portofnewport.com

RECREATIONAL MARINA

The recreational marina, located on the south side of Yaquina Bay, is known on the Oregon Coast for its fantastic proximity to the Pacific Ocean. The facility offers 500 slips, a public boat launch and all the amenities needed for those who are sailing, fishing, or touring. Public fish cleaning stations hum with activity and local charter services help visitors haul in everything from halibut to albacore tuna to Dungeness crab. To reserve a slip, visit portofnewport.com.

NORTH COMMERCIAL MARINA

A robust fishing fleet makes its home at the Port of Newport's commercial marina, located on the north side of Yaquina Bay. Accommodating approximately 200 vessels of varying sizes, this marina is home to small businesses that contribute millions to the Lincoln County economy. Newport's commercial fishery harvested more than 124 million pounds of fish, crab and shrimp in 2018, valued at more than $62 million.

OTHER MAJOR HOLDINGS

The Port of Newport is the owner of the facilities that serve as the Pacific headquarters of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). Additionally, the Port leases property to Oregon State University's Hatfield Marine Science Center, the Oregon Coast Aquarium, and Oregon Brewing Company / Rogue Ales, as well as a variety of smaller leaseholders.
