Bond refinance will save Port, taxpayers money

The Port of Newport is currently reviewing proposals from firms for the purpose of refinancing separate bonds issued to construct NOAA facilities and achieve reconstruction of the International Terminals. Click here to read how this refinancing will help the Port pursue future projects and also give taxpayers a break, too.

International Terminal: Log yard permit discussed

A city requirement to provide a construction timeline for log export yard by November or let the permit expire has Port officials reviewing options and inviting input. Read more here.

We are awaiting word on an EDA grant for the Port Dock 5 Pier project. Watch for an email blast when we have news to share!

Two Harbormasters celebrate 30 years at Port of Newport

It's been three decades since Kent Gibson and Chris Urbach were hired by the Port of Newport. The two harbormasters have seen many changes over 30 years on the waterfront.
